

Press Release

10 November 2011

Opening of Mori Seiki Shanghai Solution Center

We are pleased to announce that our new premises, Shanghai Solution Center have finally come to its grand opening. The opening ceremony was held on 10th November with 120 customers and is followed by a private exhibition till 14th. Our Shanghai headquarter, MORI SEIKI (SHANGHAI) CO., LTD. which was located in a tall commercial building in Shanghai city, has move to this new four-story premises accordingly.

Surrounded by a Japanese and European tool maker with showrooms, and our German business partner Gildemeister AG s Shanghai factory near by, its location is convenient for customers who considers to purchase machine. The Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in China expanded 9.6% in January to June 2011 compared with the corresponding period of last year; Mori Seiki group in China continue to receive stable order intake.

The 10,000 square meters facility includes our first showroom in China to demonstrate the latest in Mori Seiki technology and advanced machining processes. Customers will be able to see live demonstrations on technology specific for their business and create an opportunity for customer process testing and development. The facility also features a state-of-the-art training and media area for customer seminars, product demos and training sessions (NC school). Mori Seiki highly-skilled technician will be onsite to supply customers with engineering services including testcuts, turnkeys, and accessory integration. We will keep parts shipment ratio within 24 hours of over 90% by having plentiful stock and provide best support to customers in China.

Shanghai Solution Center

Opening Ceremony

Showroom

