DMG MORI establishes European Headquarters in Munich

DMG MORI CO., LTD. (hereinafter “DMG MORI”) will establish the Headquarters of DMG MORI Europe Holding GmbH in the capital city of Munich in the Free State of Bavaria, Germany, in 2026.

Conveniently located in the center of Europe, Munich is home to IT companies, automobile manufacturers, and renowned universities, including technical universities, and the ideal hub for business. From Munich, it takes about 2 hours to Pfronten Factory, the largest European development and production site of the DMG MORI Group, and all other production sites in Europe can be reached within a few hours as well. It is worth noting that the “D” in “DMG MORI” stands for Friedrich Deckel, whose company developed and built precision machine tools in Munich until the 1990s. This historical connection adds an extra layer of significance to the location.

The new building will have six floors (incl. the ground floor) with a total area of 10,000 m². It will function as the focal point for various departments, including administration, sales, service, and engineering. On the ground floor, more than 30 of our latest products and technologies will be on display in a 1,500 m² showroom.

Our Global Headquarters will remain in Tokyo, Japan, where it has been in operation since July 2014. Munich will serve as the headquarters for DMG MORI's European locations, further strengthening our Group's sense of unity.
